

Andrew

Pencil and iPhone 6

Pencil has moved from his old Sharpener School and is trying to find friends. He walks around and sees Samsung tablet. He says, "Want to be friends? I'm the best! See my lead and my eraser!" "No thanks," said tablet as he pointed to his apps. "I have many more features than you." So Pencil walked away and saw iPhone 6. "Want to be friends?" he asked. "No thanks," said iPhone 6. "I have an even bigger screen than iPhone 5C!" So pencil kept walking until he ran into X Box. After asking if he would like to be friends, X Box said "No!" So pencil sadly sat on a bench. He saw eraser, marker, scissors, and rock pass by. They all didn't want to be his friend. Then finally he saw paper and asked him to be friends. Paper said, "Sure, hey you can teach me to draw! I'm not very good at it." Pencil said, "Can you teach me how to make origami?" The other technology and writing tools came over to see why they were having so much fun drawing and folding paper. "Can you teach us arts and crafts?" they asked Pencil and Paper. "Sure thing!" Pencil and Paper answered. Pencil was happy to have made new friends.